When As Students,

We walk for the first time through the doors of the Student Center, we are confronted with the many favorable characteristics of our school. As a casual visitor we notice the beautiful campus and excellent facilities; as a student we recognize the splendid faculty and well-rounded curriculum. Perhaps the most outstanding characteristic, though, is the Opportunity the school offers equally to every student. In whatever phase of school life one is interested—academics, athletics, service clubs, organizations — Myers Park provides the chance to participate and excel. The opportunities await us, and it is our privilege to take advantage of them.

Dedicated to

Class Advisor, Mr. Sizer, discusses final graduation details with President Lee Dukes.

Well-liked by his students, Mr. Sizer receives a gift from Phil Anderson and German II class. The figure, known as a "dawk," displayed various amusing signs throughout the year.

Mr. Richard Sizer

Each year seniors are asked to nominate outstanding faculty members whom they would like to honor with the Mustang dedication. This year they have chosen a man who undoubtedly deserves recognition because of his numerous and varied contributions to the betterment of both Myers Park and its students. For his ENTHUSIASM in his work as journalism teacher and seven years as school newspaper advisor; his DETERMINATION to initiate a program of German at Myers Park; his SERVICE as manager of school textbooks; his DIRECTION in the three highly successful musical productions — Oklahoma, Carousel, and Annie; and finally for his invaluable GUIDANCE as class advisor—a job which has involved ordering class rings, co-ordinating individual efforts to produce a successful Junior-Senior, and working with caps and gowns, invitations, diplomas, and graduation—we proudly dedicate the 1966 Mustang to Mr. Richard Sizer.

Selling tickets at football games is only one of the many ways Mr. Sizer serves MP.

Participation of Student Life is one of the special parts of Myers Park that makes it different, the added spark which the students retain even after graduation. It is a facet of school life that begins wherever attending classes and doing homework leaves off. Teamed with scholastic achievements, Student Life builds a well-rounded student who is an asset to the school.

Who can forget the satisfaction of decorating the halls before a big game, working at the barbeque until you knew you could not wrap one more sandwich, yelling boisterously at pep-rallies, that split second excitement of a fall football game, or the mad rush to the parking lot after the last bell? These special moments are a unique type of education that cannot be acquired from books. It is learning to get along with people, exchange ideas, and profit from the friendship. This is the part of Myers Park that rubs off, to some degree, on each of the students.

Dick McMillan and Barry Allison take orders for barbeque from people who take advantage of the pick-up service. Other students clean tables and make sandwiches inside.

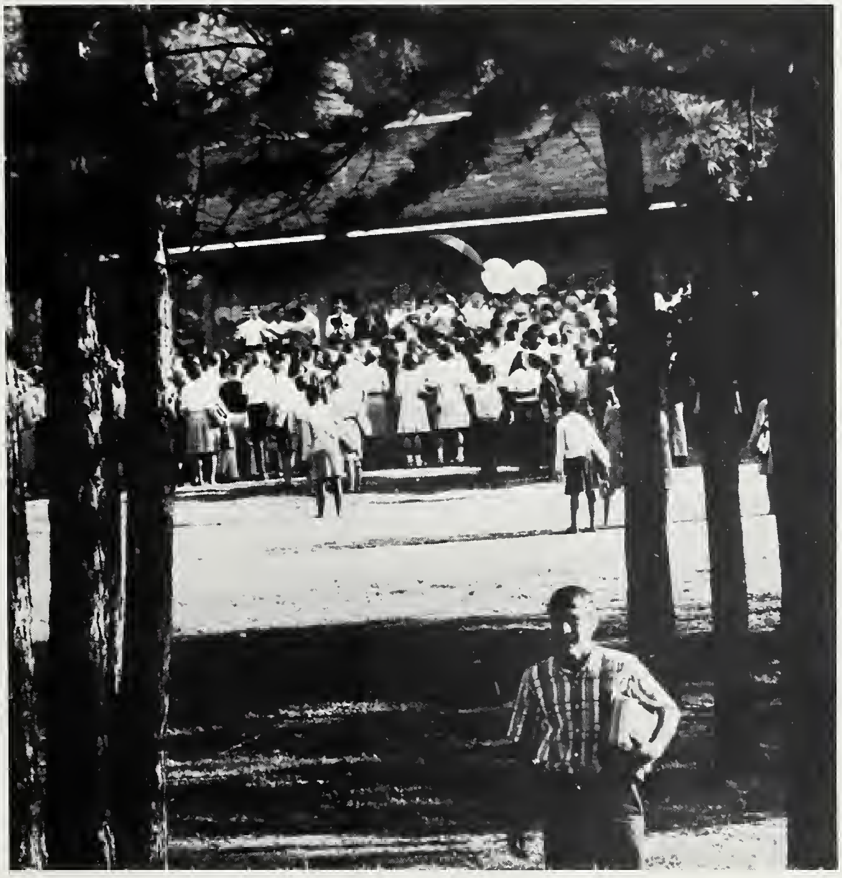
Three Classes Unite School Activities

In the flurry of football, new classes, old acquaintances, and fall, Myers Park beams with enthusiasm. Committees and clubs spring back to life, revitalized by a summer's rest and fresh leadership. Sophomores join the action and become an integral part of the school. Although they tend to forget the scholastic side of school, the first quarter report cards add a realistic touch and remind them of the primary objective of a Myers Park education. Juniors, spurred on by this new, invigorating class, use their previous year of experience to productively support school activities. They dependably serve either in leadership roles or on school clubs and committees. The seniors return, if not as ecstatic, at least more aware of the year's activities. They realize that the major responsibility of failures or successes will fall on them. Together the three classes work to add enthusiasm, service, and experience into the veins of a campus to create a school.

Singing and performing a comedy routine, Bobby Jones entertains in the Talent Show.

Mollie Robey adds a happy smile to the cheering routine of the lettergirls.

Lively pep rallies during the school day boost the spirit of the team and encourage students to attend the football game that night.



Banks Cates and Steve Hawkins play their saxophones with the pep band after school.

Amigos, Snow,

Hardworking janitors prevent slips and falls by clearing snow off the library steps.

As the year progresses, more opportunities are available for students to broaden their understanding. The arrival of the Amigos from Equador and Argentina affected not only the Spanish-speaking hosts, but all the students who came into contact with them. Every smile or broken phrase was translated to mean friendship. The extra vacation days from the generous snow came right after Christmas vacation, but no one complained, especially the seniors who are exempt from making them up at the end of the year. Around the middle of the year came the frightening fire in the Student Lounge which smoked the halls and completely destroyed the Lounge itself. Everybody missed the fun after school, eating and talking and relaxing with others. A happy note appeared this winter with the exciting basketball season and all the fun it brought. The undefeated season until the last game of the finals only brings to mind the words "wait 'til next year." The students showed their gratitude to the team by contributing to buy a trophy.

Joyfully, the basketball team holds the first place Western 4A Conference trophy high after winning the game over West.

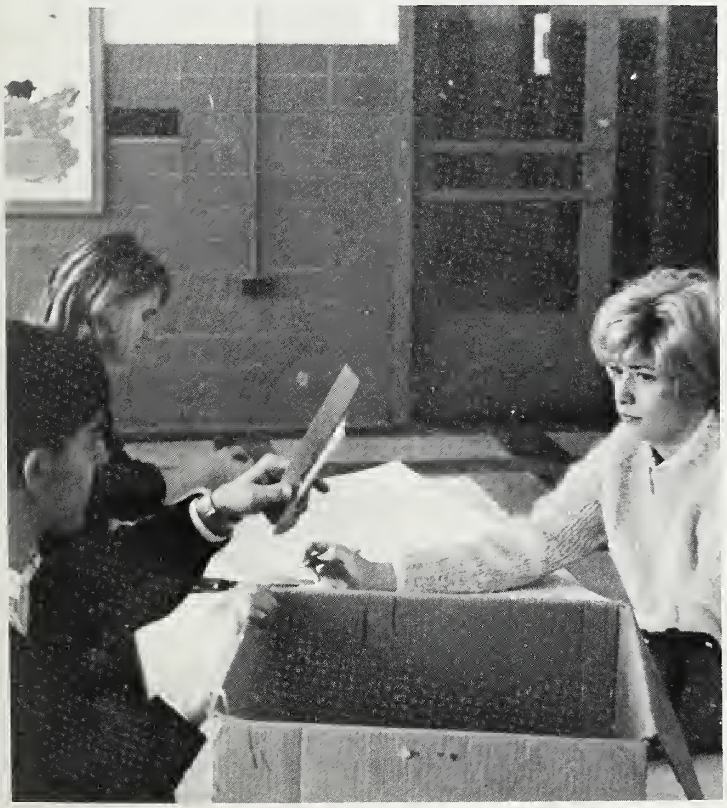
Myers Park and North cheerleaders show friendly spirit for the game and new acquaintances.

Bill Hunt distributes materials while Brandon Rogers and Anne Sebrell begin preparations for another school-sponsored dance.



Charred and broken soft drink bottles are evidence of the Student Lounge fire.

During halftime activities of the Homecoming game, each sponsor and her escort passed under the flowered arch and between the fiery torches as part of the presentation.

Beating Rocky Mount, November 5, by a healthy margin, the football team added a victory to the festivities of Homecoming. To the accompaniment of the band each football player and his sponsor passed through a flowered arch, down the steps, and between the fiery torches. After the presentation of sponsors, the halftime activities culminated with the crowning of Jane Huneycutt as Homecoming Queen.

Saturday night's dance, with the theme of the Wild West, was a unique event for Myers Park students. The decorations began at the "depot" and continued down "main street" to the glimmering cafeteria. Wanted posters advertising the crimes of our senior football players plastered the walls of the new cafeteria in the typical sheriff's office pattern. A comical cut-away of a western couple, available for students to pose in, was another addition to the evening's fun. The "saloon," usually called the Student Lounge, provided a place for the students to wet their parched throats and congregate.

Bright murals of Christmas scenes and glittering ornaments hanging from the ceiling highlighted the decorations of this year's colorful Christmas Dance. Equally conspicuous was the light mood, a result of the coming holidays and seasonal gaiety. The foyer, similar to the living room scene in the "Night Before Christmas," first greeted the colorfully decked students. An enormous tree, piled high with presents and cleverly decorated, dominated the attention in the old cafeteria. As a result of the tragic student lounge fire, the new cafeteria was converted into a refreshment center. The finishing touch to another successful dance was the lively music of the popular Catalinas. Although they were hardly visible through the dim light, their music was an unforgetful addition to the holiday atmosphere. The only element of fun missing was the arrival of Santa Claus and his reindeer.

Sponsored by the Interact Club, Anne Miller was selected by the student body as Christmas Queen for the Christmas Dance.

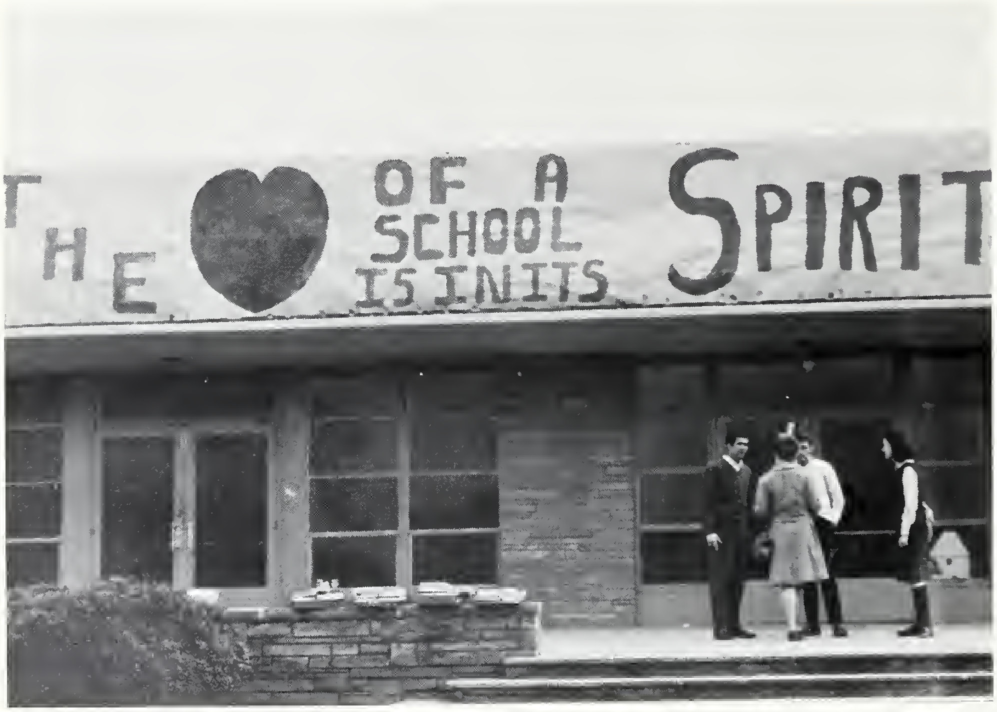
Annual Spring Fever

Students gather outside S C under the school spirit sign during "Big S" week. The Student Council stressed Scholarship, Sportsmanship, Service, and Spirit.



With Honor Society inductions, a new service club formed, the musical underway, and the baseball season, spring comes to Myers Park. Assemblies are made available to the students, varying from Alan Newcombe to Harry Golden to the speeches by the Foreign Exchange students. All serve the purpose of broadening the scope of the attendants. As the seniors prepare for graduation exercises, the juniors are adding the last touches to the Junior-Senior plans, and the sophomores are practicing their cheers in hopes of being chosen as varsity cheerleaders. The deadline for term papers draws near and accompanies the haggard expressions worn by exhausted students who let the weeks slip by. With the excitement of the projects comes the perennial spring fever. Although hindered by this rebellion against the mounting tensions and pressures, the work gets done and is declared the "best ever."

Mounting excitement of the game is seen on the faces of Betsy Smith and Mary Reid.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Awaited with anticipation, the Honor Society inductions in the spring include the first five percent of the Junior Class and the third five percent of the Senior Class.

Impressive Qualities

Of all the opportunities available at Myers Park, the most significant is the opportunity to excel. The qualified faculty teamed with a serviceable campus produce opportunities unlimited. The record-breaking national test and scholarship winners confirms the academic excellence of a Myers Park education. By looking over the past years, it is obvious that our school offers the opportunity to excel and many students do.

Each year the list of National Merit Semi-Finalists at Myers Park grows; this year was no exception. From the results of a national test given in the junior year, semi-finalists are named. An overwhelmingly large number, fifteen, met the high standards and became semifinalists for the scholarships. Those who came

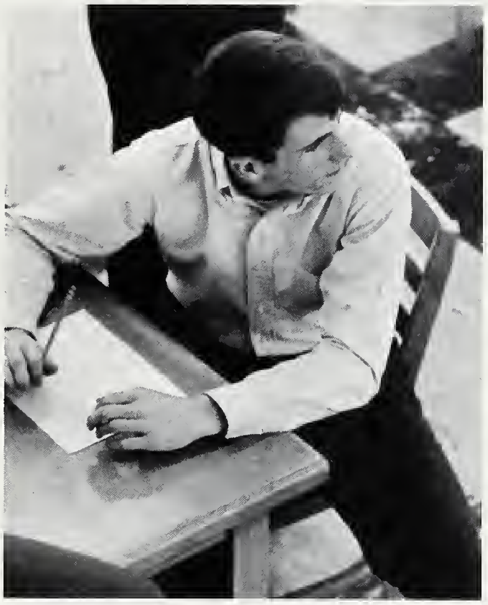
Good citizenship, is the determining factor for the recipient of the DAR award. Kay Welsh met this and the other qualifications of service, dependability, and leadership. Awarded at the end of the year, the honor is presented by a representative of the Charlotte chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Harvard Book Award, presented to Dick Betts, at the end of his junior year, honors a student who has reached high levels of citizenship and scholarship. This award symbolizes the appreciation of the Harvard Book Club to a hard-working scholar.

Another honor bestowed on a rising senior boy is the Sewanee Award for Excellence given by the University of the South.



During lunch, Tommy Pettus is distracted a moment from his studies in the library.

Lee Dukes was given the Sewanee Award for Excellence by the University of the South.

Recipient of the Good Citizenship Award, senior Kay Welsh was recognized by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In his junior year, Dick Betts merited the Harvard Book Award as a result of his academic ability, citizenship, and service.

Various Awards Honor Exceptional,

With the accompaniment of the orchestra, Johnny Snyder skillfully plays his trumpet.

Students who are admired by their fellow classmates and teachers receive honors for their school services and admirable qualities. Some of these awards are given by popular vote and others are chosen by the faculty, but all recipients are responsible Mustangs who have shown interest in the school.

The Junior Class is responsible for choosing a Miss Hi - Miss. Betsy Smith, their selection, went to Winthrop college to compete in the annual contest sponsored by the college newspaper, the Johnstonian. The students named Mr. and Miss Myers Park are the boy and girl who the members of the Senior Class most admire. Considering school service and leadership, the Student Council choses a list of nominees for this award and then allows the seniors to choose those who will represent the ideal Myers Park students.

At the annual Thanksgiving Day Parade, Myers Park is represented by a Carousel Princess. Pretty Sally Miller was the student body's choice this year. Her selection allowed Sally to attend the Carousel Ball and to ride as an Honor Princess on the King and Queen's float in the parade.

Eight well-rounded boys represent our school at Rotary Club meetings each month. These Jr. Rotarians, chosen by Miss Gunter this year, are members of the Senior Class and are worthy of the honor. They are the outstanding boys in their class for their continuous citizenship, leadership, and service.

The Danforth awards, based on leadership, ability, and honor are received by a senior boy and girl. On the advice of the administration, the Danforth Foundation makes its presentation at Honors and Awards Assembly at the end of the year.

Named as both Mr. and Miss Myers Park and Danforth Award recipients, Kay Welsh and Lee Dukes excel in leadership and service.

As Miss Hi-Miss, junior Betsy Smith participated in contests at Winthrop College.

Phil Anderson

Recognized by the Senior Class for their school service, the students included in this section meet the high standards of leadership, scholarship, dependability, and citizenship. The Horner Awards honor Dr. Jack Horner, principal of Myers Park from 1955 - 1960. These students are also praised for their outstanding achievements and invaluable service to Myers Park. Without these leaders, Myers Park would suffer not only from the loss of their service, but also from the loss of the example set for other students.

Overview

Commencement

Graduation calls to a close three eventful, fun-packed years. Greeted with mixed feelings, the commencement exercises force a student to pause and think over his three years at Myers Park. They seem to have flown and yet how different everyone was as a sophomore. Could that have been us actually losing our way from the gym to LA or not knowing the words to the now familiar cheers? Who was it who stayed at school every afternoon for months working on Junior-Senior preparations? And who is it now leaving the familiar folds of Myers Park to face new schools, new people, new futures? Three years full of true friendships, exciting experiences, and broadening knowledge never to be forgotten have passed. The true test of our high school education, though, is yet ahead. It is the application of a Myers Park education that tells the difference in the quality of scholarship and friendship we have had access to. Insignificant details drift away, but the effect of our stay at Myers Park will follow us.

Mothers work on PTA projects, such as the barbeque, to raise money for the school.

METTEZ UN TIGRE DANS VOTRE MOTEUR!

Linda Edgerton, Molly Woltz, and Sally Miller act out a skit in Mr. McIntyre's French II class. These skits are given each Friday of second semester as a required project.

Included in the four foreign languages taught at MP are French, Spanish, Latin, and German. French is offered on a five year basis while the course of study is grammar and pronunciation are stressed during the first couple of years. French III, IV, and V concentrates on the history, literature, geography, and language. The Spanish department offers to interested students four years of study. Intensive drill on grammar along with frequent use of tapes in the language lab, increases the students' ability to master this language. Also participants encounter history and culture of Spanish speaking countries besides practical use in reading, hearing, and comprehending the language. Latin is the basis for all romantic languages. Information presented introduces the student to the earliest periods of govermental and literary achievement. In addition this language aides students with English vocabulary, for many English words are Latin derivatives. In the German program, students are able to obtain cultural information including the history, legends, and everyday life of the German people.

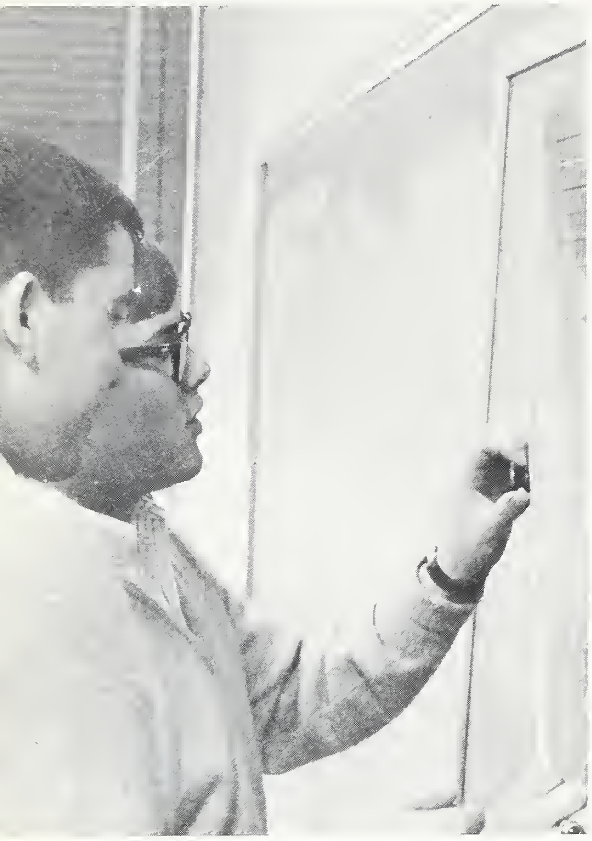
New Methods and Subject Aid M/S Departments



Ralph Irwin and Bob Bohnhoff draw a graph in Miss Hutchison's Modern Algebra II class.

A variety of math courses are available to students at Myers Park. The math department places them in designated classes according to their ability. This is done for Algebra I, II, and geometry. Algebra-trigonometry can be taken by students who have completed two years of algebra and one of geometry while mathematical analysis is an advanced course for students who have completed algebra-trigonometry. General math is offered for those not wishing to continue their math study of numbers and figures.

Science courses are offered so as to appeal to every caliber of student. Senior science gives an overall view whereas the other courses concentrate on more specific areas. Biology I, required for graduation, is usually taken by sophomores. After taking this course, some students elect chemistry, where the cause and result of chemical reaction is the main course of study. The laws of motion are examined by students taking physics. In Biology II, participants learn through experimentation, observation, and outside reading.

Ann Williams, Carol Ashcraft, Suzy Dorenbusch, and Nina Helms undertake an experiment during a chemistry lab in Miss Carmichael's class. Each week there are two scheduled labs.

MP Offers Opportunity to Perfect Individual Talents

Marcia Grier and Bill Hunt act out a scene in the three act comedy "Sabrina Fair."

Included in the courses offered in the fine arts section at M. P. are drama, chorus, orchestra, and band. These studies present a cultural view to those who are talently inclined.

The drama classes were very active this year in the productions directed by Mr. Thomas Elmore. Many students participated in the annual Show Biz Revue, of which the theme was circus life, that was produced by the department. The play, Bull In a China Shop, an arena production, also provided an opportunity for many students to develop special skills.

The marching band, which played an important role during football season, provided the team and spectators with half-time entertainment and instigated both spirit and enthusiasm. Mr. Benson, a newcomer to Myers Park, and the band, devoted much time and effort to practicing interesting formations. In addition to marching, the band presented two concerts and entered the state band contest on March 31 where the musicians earned an excellent rating.

Under the direction of Mr. Spencer Mims, the orchestra combined their talents to receive a rating of "very superior" in the state contest. This elective course, which gives one unit of credit, can only be taken by those who have had previous experience with a musical instrument. The orchestra provides the musically inclined student with the opportunity to perfect his individual skills and also to contribute his playing to the overall performance of the group. Besides the various concerts during the year, the orchestra practices many hours to prepare for the annual musical when they accompany the chorus.

The chorus presents many concerts yearly in addition to the many performances at PTA meetings and assemblies. The Choir, composed of selected members from the chorus, has many requests to sing at department stores and shopping centers. During classtime, Mr. Carl Cronstedt begins with vocal exercises which enables one's voice to "wake up." Members of the chorus also participate in the annual musical, which was South Pacific this year.

Mr. Cronstedt demonstrates to his students the importance of breathing in singing.

During the year, the orchestra gives a varied number of programs including concerts at PTA and school assemblies. Also they accompany the chorus in the annual musical.

Each year Mr. Dean Barber instructs his students in the many phases of art.

During art class many students take a great interest in this course. Some delve into such works as pen and ink, sculpting, abstracts, landscapes, and pencil sketching.

Interested Students Take Additional Courses in Psychology, Sociology

Social studies, one of our most outstanding departments, is invaluable in that it gives students an insight into governmental workings, pride in their national heritage, and an inspiration for the furthering of their knowledge and an understanding of past and present societies. Included in the curriculum are courses in American and world history, Bible I, II, psychology, economics, and sociology. Many of these courses are separated into advanced, regular and basic sections for the benefit of the individual. American and world history, the only required social study courses at Myers Park, are made interesting by colorful methods of teaching. From totally pre-planned hypothetical "dream" trips to intellectual discussions of philosophy and theology, the class periods are enjoyable as well as educational. Bible I and II give the students a basis for exploring their own beliefs, because controversial subjects are frequently discussed. In Bible II, intricate biblical history is studied in detail. Phychology and sociology take up the inner motivations of the human mind and its society. These courses are extremely useful if the student plans to proceed into the field of social work.

Caroline Purnell, Terry Bayne, Terry Harrison, and Susan McIntyre act out an original skit which they prepared for Mrs. Pleasant's Bible I students.

Knowledge and Skill Plus Health and Safety Education Are Aims of PE

The instructors of the physical education department at Myers Park present a healthful and refreshing program so that each student may gain mental and physical ability. The courses offered encourage increased physical strength, body flexibility, rhythmetic body co-ordination, balance, and good posture, while promoting stamina, speed, accuracy of movement, and sportsmanship. Girls participate in a number of activities to help achieve gracefulness and physical fitness. Individual activities include modern dancing, tumbling, jump roping, archery, and golf. Calisthenics, basketball, softball, touch football, ping pong, volleyball, soccer, and track and field induce personal competition, rhythm, and coordination.

Boys develop physical fitness and mental alertness through engaging in such activities as tumbling, and weight lifting, and by participating in a variety of competitive sports, including volleyball, softball, basketball, track and field, touch football, and wrestling. Both individual and team sports make up the boys' varied sports' curriculum.

The calisthenics that are done at the beginning of each period create basic physical fitness that enables all students to participate effectively in strenuous sports.

The team sports require a great deal of sportsmanship as well as physical and mental fitness on the part of the participating students.

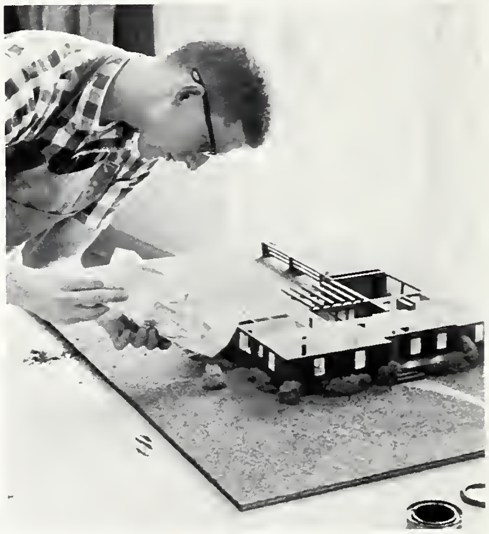
A certain group of domestic courses that give students a practical study of artistic talents fall into the category of applied arts. Girls taking the home economic and clothing courses learn the basics of sewing and cooking.

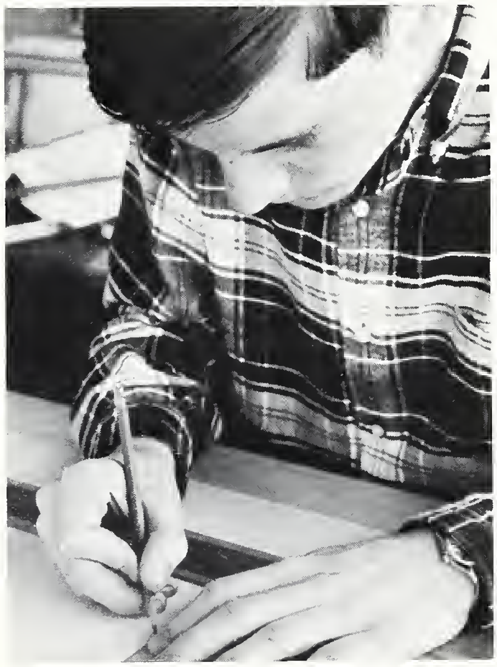
Some boys in industrial arts learn safety procedures and the operation of various machines, while others learn to draft plans for machine parts. Mechanical drawing students study methods of dimensional views which they use when working on individual projects.

Classroom and behind the wheel instruction is imperative for N. C. drivers' licenses, therefore many students elect this study. All participants must complete thirty hours of classroom training and six hours of practical driving.



Tom Applegate adds bits of shrubbery to his partly completed, original home design.

Gene Stallings utilizes preciseness and accuracy as he draws his plans to scale.



Brad Stafford, mechanical drawing student, makes a final check on his project before turning it in. All students draw blue prints and build model houses.

Business Firms Provides Opportunity for Learning

An integral part of Myers Park's curriculum is business education where several business preparatory courses are offered. The importance of a student's preparation for a career was stressed in two assemblies during the year. One was given in early March by distributive education and industrial co-operative training to acquaint sophomores and juniors with the vocational training programs. A second assembly was presented for sophomore and junior girls in order to give them information on how to obtain high school training for future business careers.

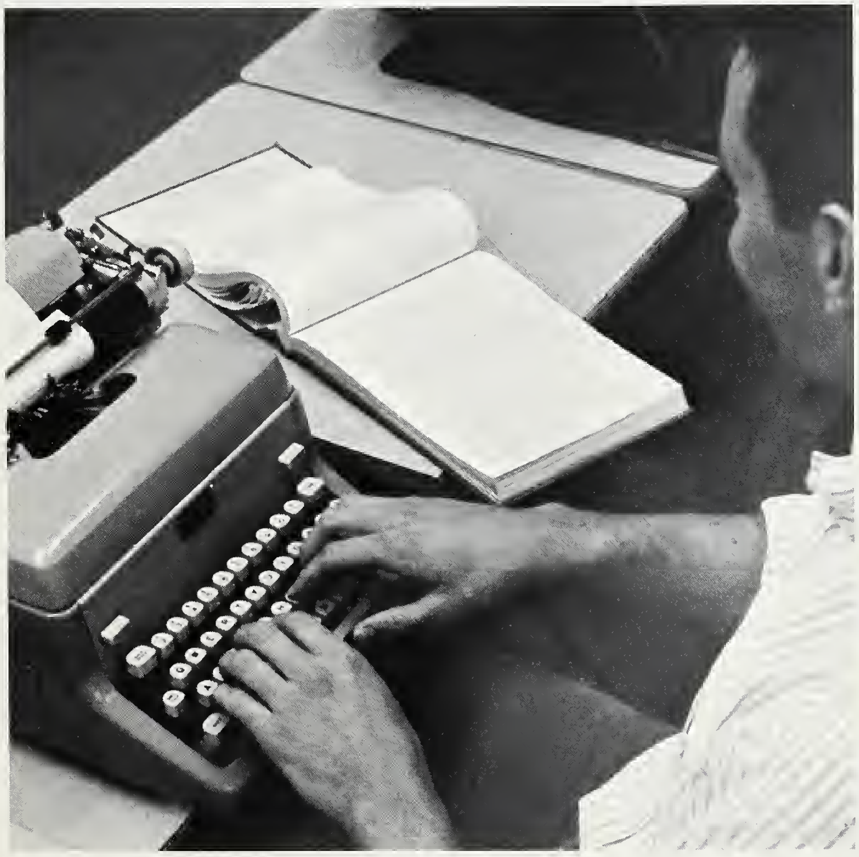
The largest business class is that of distributive education which is offered to students on two levels. In the classroom work, for which a student receives one unit of credit, instruction is given on how to succeed with a job. A second credit is given for on-the-job training where each student carries out the knowledge learned in the classroom. Students work at various jobs as filling station attendants, and clerks in department stores and banks. The minimum required work time is 15 hours per week. Salesmanship, bookkeeping, marketing, and business law are profitable courses which fit in with the DE program.

Industrial co-operative training, a new program, is similar to DE but involves training in manual labor. Valuable instruction is given the students in school, and they practice their learned skills on the job. Such jobs that are experienced are mechanics and dental assistants. Data processing is another new course where students learn, among other things, to wire computers.

Another course in the field of business is office practice where the individual learns filing, use of the dictaphone, and duplicating and secretarial procedures. Typing and shorthand are two important subjects which students elect in order that they will be able to save time on writing themes and taking notes. These aids can be helpful in any class.

There are many reasons which make business education so valuable. This instruction may prepare one for higher education, supplement one's income in high school, or lead to an exciting and rewarding career.

Typing, a very useful course, can be applied to other subject matter as term papers and themes. David Stanley works on improving accuracy.



Shorthand is a valuable asset to those who will graduate into the business world.

And Composition

English, the only course required for all three years at MP, offers many opportunities for college preparation because of an outstanding English department. Students are placed in advanced, regular, and basic sections of the fundamental English course according to teacher recommendation. In the sophomore year, students study such works as Julius Caesar and Idylls of the King, whereas American literature is the basis of study for the junior year. Several teachers also require their students to turn in research papers. Seniors delve into English literature, including the works of Chaucer and Shakespeare and are permitted to select additional classes in world literature and senior classics. World lit is a survey study of the literature of the ancient East and modern west, excluding American and English writings while senior classics is a master course in ancient and modern literature. Advanced placement English, carrying an extra quality point allows qualified seniors to take a course in literature and composition which many colleges accept as a substitute for freshman English.

In Miss Hatchette's class, Billy Farthing portrays the "squire" from the CANTERBURY TALES.

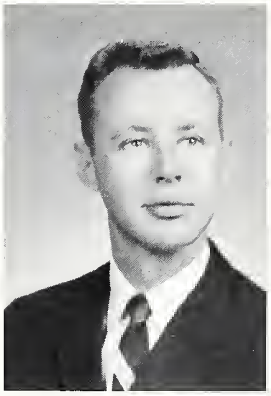
Key to Knowledge, Education, the Library Is Center of MP Campus



Kemp

Phifer

The library is the main center of education at Myers Park. It provides students with all types of learning facilities in a quiet atmosphere consusive to concentration. The spacious, well-lighted room has clever bulletin boards and displays that spark the students' interest in literature. Open before and after school and during each class, the library is well-equipped to provide all types of books, references, and magazines. Miss Phifer and Mr. Kemp show their interest by helping students in every way possible, while Mrs. Kemper, the secretary, keeps library affairs in order.

Spirit, Service, Scholarship, Characterize Class of '66

Bringing to an end our high school years and focusing our thoughts on the future, we look over our accomplishments only to realize the three years at Myers Park have gone too quickly. The fear and insecurity we felt as sophomores soon gave way to that certain intangible spirit of unity.

Returning with the confidence only a junior can have, we began to take our places as promising leaders. With the agony of SAT and Achievement Tests came the ecstasy of the first inductions into Honor Society, the selection of Junior Marshals, and the presentation of Annie. Last but not least was the planning of Junior-Senior and the distribution of class rings.

In this our final year, we realize the leadership rests on our shoulders. Centered around the idea of Big "S," our year has been complete with a successful Barbecue, an undefeated basketball and football season, and South Pacific. Now we graduate, each one going his own way, leaving behind a part of himself but taking with him the memory of tears, laughter, friends, and achievements. Most of all we take the challenge of higher goals and the pride of the Myers Park seal.

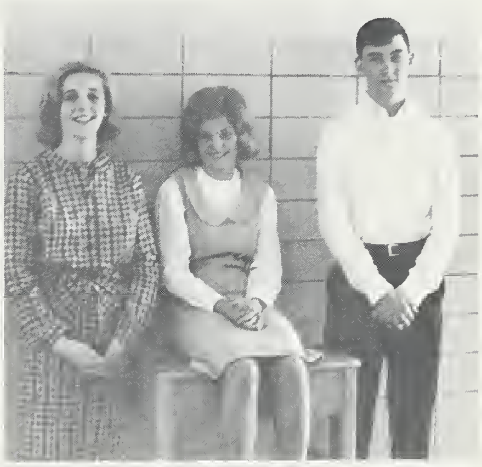
Countless hours are spent discussing and organizing plans for graduation exercises. Class President Lee Dukes and Advisor Mr. Sizer review suggestions for the class gift.

Lee Dukes, Bill Farthing, and Kay Welsh attended the Wildacres Convention where they discussed various phases of human relations with the representatives from other schools.

Gillie Spratt represented Myers Park at the North Carolina Boys' State Convention during the summer. Hunter Meacham was the alternate representative.

Fascinated with the preparation necessary for graduation exercises, senior Gail Beyer tries her cap and gown for size.

Morehead Finalists and Scholars are Gillie Spratt, Dick Betts, and Bill Farthing; alternates are John Hutchinson and Herbert Long.



American Freedom Institute representatives are Julie Leland, Mary Brigham, Jim Husband.

In the comfort and quiet of the library, Peter DeVido, the AFS exchange student from Argentina, studies to improve his English with the help of his American brother Johnny Elliott.

Participating in the Foreign Exchange program is a memorable event. Phil Anderson spent the summer in Norway, Betty Brauch in Switzerland, Susan Ryburn in France, and Gina Gilmour in Japan.

Ability, Leadership, Responsibility, Characterize Juniors

The Junior Class returned to MP this fall with an air of assurance, enthusiasm, and anticipation typical of each new class. They laughed in delight as sophomores fought their way through the crowded halls and fumbled confusedly for their schedule cards — forgetting that last year they were in a similar predicament. They watched with envy as seniors enjoyed the facilities of the student lounge during lunch — little realizing that they would do so the following year. Finally they began to take their place as juniors — the leaders of tomorrow.

To prepare them for the responsibilities of upperclassmen, many juniors were appointed committee chairmen. Others worked intently on plans for the Junior-Senior Prom, while still others were chosen officers of organizations. Everywhere on campus, juniors were participating and serving—working together.

With the responsibility of being a junior came many rights and honors. Early in the spring, class rings, symbolizing newly acquired status, were distributed to class members. Also, juniors who excelled in the fields of scholarship and citizenship were tapped into the NHS and selected Junior Marshals.

Next year these same students will be the Seniors, upon whom the leadership of the school will depend.

Mary Howren and Carol Hagemeyer apply paint and elbow grease to committee's project.

Eight Week Governor's School During Summer

Juniors typify the Myers Park spirit. Producing a Junior-Senior and acting as Marshals at graduation helps prepare the Juniors for their leadership role in the coming year. Election of new student council and class officers sets the pace for an active, rewarding senior year.

Supporting School Spirit Committee, Shirley Hill sells horseshoes to Billie Mauney and Doris Dixon for spirit chain backing the Mustangs.

Eugenia Sloan and Nell Barns enjoy part of MP's social life at the Future Teachers' Christmas party.

Concentrating as characters are created during game of charades, Emily Wilmer, Emily Ripley, Susan McClung, Jim Alexander, Carmen Sotir watch as Penny Hollars leads pantomime.

Creative Leaders Emerge from Sophomore Class

From different communities and various schools come the six hundred students who comprise the Sophomore Class. These young people bring with them part of their past environment, their old friends and ideas. After the first few months, however, the students learn to work and play together and become an intricate part of the working community of MPHS —their new world and life. Puzzling problems arise but are soon solved as sophomores learn that it is possible to race from Gym to Biology in five minutes, that seniors are not really so bad, that teachers are ready and willing to help, and that Myers Park is an educational institution worth attending. The new students recognize the opportunities their school offers and take advantage of them by participating in dramatic productions, athletic events, and club activities. They are no longer the individuals from their junior high schools but the mature students of Myers Park. These Sophomores are an important part of the school for they represent its uncertain, yet exciting future. Will Myers Park retain its fine name in scholarship, sportsmanship, and service? The answer rests in the hands of these our striving sophomores.

During latter half of lunch, students like Sue George review studies in the library.

The Mustang

Annual Staff Works

Since September, the Mustang staff has worked diligently to retain the high standards of previous yearbooks and to continue the award winning tradition of the Mustang. In order that the staff have a better understanding of the processes of making a successful yearbook, Mr. Browne, the advisor, arranged for the entire staff to tour Delmar, the company that prints the '66 Mustang.
Organizational changes made this year contribute to the originality which typifies each new yearbook.
To reduce the responsibility of the

Again this year the Sports Sections was handled by two students. Herb Long edits the Boys' Sports and Patti Packard edits the Girls' Sports.

Although the Mustang Staff works unceasingly to produce another award winning annual, they find time to relax between long hours in the dark room and in the annual room.

Furiously to Meet July Deadline

Editor-in-Chief, the Faculty and Curriculum sections were combined under the editorship of one student. Formerly handled by two editors, the Activities section was managed by one person.

Designing the opening section and dividers, distributing the contacts to the section editors, and co-ordinating the entire yearbook are the major jobs of the Editor-in- Chief. The various duties of the Business Manager range from selling underclass pictures and sponsorships to selling the annual itself.

Chosen from the Junior Class, the minor staff, assists the individual editors in writing and typing copy, aiding in group identification, and alphabetizing.

The least publicized but perhaps the hardest working staff members are the photographers. They are responsible for taking every picture considered for printing in the yearbook, developing the film, and enlarging the contacts. This job requires much time both during and after school.

Joanna Hill, Student Life Editor, pauses for a moment while counting votes for beauty.

Marcia Grier, Activities Editor, busily selects pictures to be enlarged for her section.

The collaborating editors of the Academics Section are: Liz Livingston, Faculty-Curriculum; Josie Houston, Underclass; Sue Allison, Senior Class.

Tom Apperson, Business Manager, counts money for annual payments turned in by homerooms.

Ambassadors Gains New Sponsor; Members Become Junior Civinettes

Muffy Morrison, Betty Brauch, and Lee Miller entertain at the annual New Girls' Tea.

Beginning with its charter night in November, the Girl Ambassadors have had many activities to make them a part of their new sponsor, Civitan International. To learn more about their new affiliation, members attended various Junior Civitan meetings in addition to presenting a program for their Senior Civitan sponsoring club.

The club undertook many new projects this year. Working with the Key Club, the Ambassadors raked leaves to earn money for the News Empty Stocking Fund. Weekly projects included working at Dilworth School to help replenish supplies and keeping score for a group of retarded children while they bowled. The traditional activities of pushing the Cheer Cart at Memorial Hospital, sponsoring a New Girls' Tea, and entertaining at the Faculty Banquet were again assumed.

For a club project, Ambassador Genie Peacock sells a pom pon to junior Ann Sykes.

Erwin Heeseman and Mattie Gay Kissiah provide entertainment as they portray trees in a skit at the annual Ambassadors Faculty Banquet.

Students Speak, Debate, Earn Points for NFL

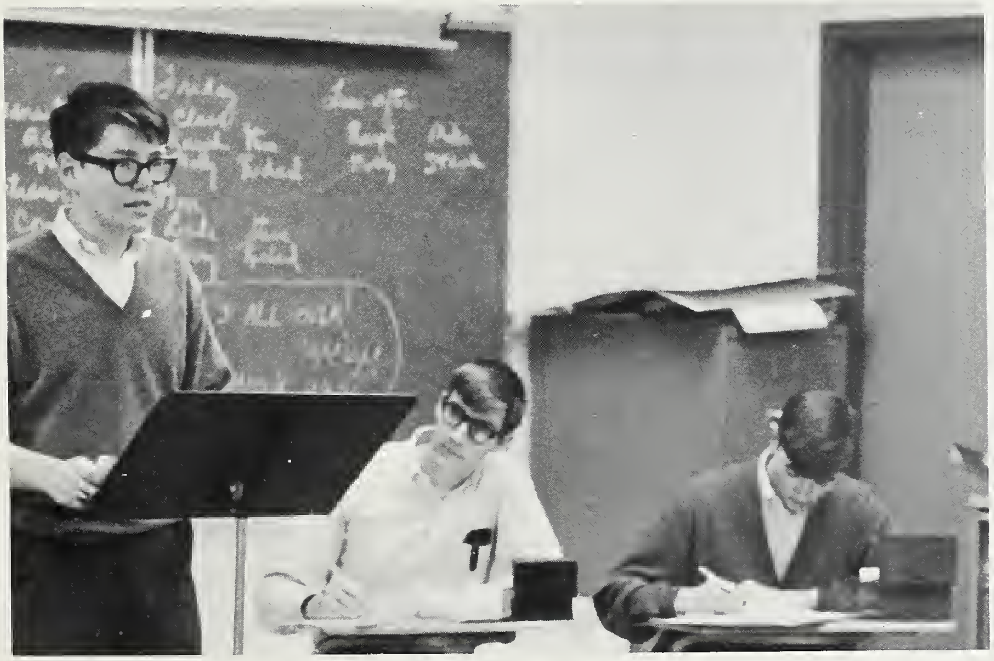
Speech Club officers: Recording Sec. Westerfield, Pres. Brownscombe, Corresponding Sec. Woltz, Treas. Neal, Vice Pres. Garcia, Historian, Brauch.

Under the leadership of Speech teacher, Mrs. Potter, the newly organized Speech and Forensic Clubs have contributed a great deal not only to the school, but the members as well. Through participation in this club, students attain responsibility, leadership, and better speaking habits. Chosen from the Speech Club, debate squad members visit many cities and well-known campuses. Eligibility for the Forensic Club is based on a system of points earned through debating, interpretive reading, radio announcing, and extemporaneous speaking.

Duke Ison, Speech Club member, gives an impromtu speech at one of the club's winter meetings. This is one way members can earn points for NFL.

Participants in the World Peace Speech Contest are: Branden, Ulrich, Jones, Ison, Page.

Ralph Garcia, member of the Debate Squad, delivers his rebuttle during a practice session in Mrs. Potter's room. The team travels to college campuses for debate competition.



At one of the club's dinner meetings Jim Branden gives a talk to earn points for NFL.

Mustangs Travel to State Tourney in Key Club Buses

September was a busy month for the Key Club not only because school started, but because a year of many activities had begun. Heading the list of projects was the cleaning up and sweeping of the curbs around school. On three consecutive Saturday mornings, Key Club members shoveled, swept, and hauled dirt and trash in an attempt to make the campus presentable. Throughout the fall, the club presented corsages to cheerleaders at football games, sponsored buses to athletic events held out of town, and raked leaves to earn money to contribute to charity. In addition to these activities the Key Club sold ads for a school directory — in which the Key Clubs of Garinger and East also participated. These directories were distributed to students the day before Christmas vacation. The final projects of the group were donating money to Myers Street Elementary School for unfortunate children and adopting a child from overseas by contributing money toward his welfare. From these and other service projects, one can easily see that the Kiwanis sponsored Key Club serves both the school and the community.

Johnny Wilson and Andy Phillips distribute Key Club directories during homeroom.

Tom Apperson aids Walter Scholtz in convincing Emily Wilmer that she must buy a ticket on the Key Club bus to go to the basketball game to support the team at the state championship.

Engineers Club

Interesting Programs Feature Guests

Operating under the philosophy that a club should prove a service to its members, the Engineers Club has endeavored to present a schedule of interesting, informative programs and activities. Working in co-ordinance with the Charlotte Engineers Club, the M.P. group has sponsored speakers from various areas of engineering and taken several field trips. These trips have included visits to Eastern Airlines Computing Center at Douglas Airport and to N. C. State College. Through programs and activities, the Engineers Club has tried to acquaint its members with the facets of a career in science and engineering.

Great Books Group Urges Open Discussions

A small group of students who meet for two hours one evening every two or three weeks compose the Great Books Club. Programs include informal discussions which provide participants with an opportunity to understand and appreciate problems which have beset mankind from ancient to modern times. Several works under discussion this year were Ecclesiastes, Aristotle's Ethics, and Descartes' Meditations.

Great Books' members intently listen to a lecture on the works of Hindu religion and philosophy at one of the club's bimonthly meetings.

Lettergirls, Majorettes, Drum Majors, Flag Bearers

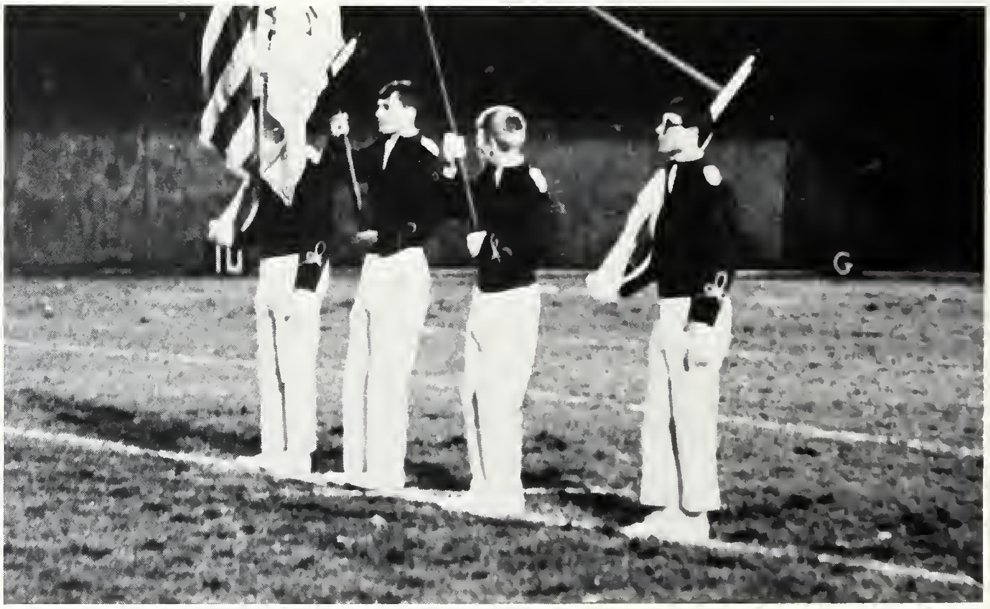
School Spirit Typified by Vivacious

The lettergirls are the girls in green and white who, in addition to urging spirit and promoting sportsmanship, spell MYERS PARK. Besides participating in each half-time show during the football season, the girls along with the majorettes, represented M.P. and marched with the band in the Shrine Bowl, Band Bowl, and Carousel Parade. When basketball season arrives, the lettergirls put away their marching boots and attend basketball games to add color and enthusiasm. This year they even traveled to Greensboro for the State finals.

The majorettes also play a large part in promoting school spirit at both football games and pep rallies. Because they too perform with the band, they must spend a good deal of time during the summer and fall preparing for half-time activities which accompany each football game. For their service to M. P. during the football season, two other groups must also be recognized. They are the drum majors who march with and coordinate the band's activities and the flag bearers who carry the colors.

Mollie Robey and Linda Yarborough cheer as the Mustangs score another touchdown.

Flag bearers, Bill Hunt, Rick Sterling, Damon Hearne, and Joe Goodwin, accompany the band in half-time shows during football season and march in various parades throughout the fall.



Myers Park's lettergirls participate in the pep rally held in the football stadium.

Majorettes: Mary Barden, Ginny Duvall, Susan Miles, Ginger Rollins (head), Carol Brownscombe, Rita Haene.

Students Who Spark School

Drum Majors, Tommy Delantonus and Jim Hobbs, practice keeping in step as they march.

Twice each week majorettes march with the band in the football field in order to practice for the half-time show for that weekend.

Accompanying the band, majorettes display their skill with ignited batons during the half-time performance at a football game in Memorial Stadium.

Drama, Thespians, Limelighters

Student Groups Present a Variety of Drama activities began this year with the production of the annual talent show, sponsored by the Student Council, Limelighters, and Thespians. The theme of the event which enabled the student body to enjoy the talents of their classmates was "Come to the Circus" and was developed through comedy skits, dance routines, and songs. Following the Talent Show, rehearsals began for a three-act comedy, Sabrina Fair, presented through the co-operation of the drama classes and Senior Class.

Again the drama department gave an arena production, Bull in a China Shop, which was a delightful comedy-mystery. Six elderly ladies harassed an Irish detective while the audience, hardly two feet away, showed approval with their laughter. Continuing the participation in the State Drama Festival, Myers Park sent a one-act play to the district contest at Catawba College. By working on the play, "The Lottery," many students were able to gain experience in the field of drama.

Behind these productions two organizations stimulated the interest and enthusiasm necessary for a successful drama department. The Limelighters, whose membership is open to all sincerely interested in the theater, gave students a chance to participate in every phase of drama. Composed of a few chosen members, the National Thespian Society honored those whose work in dramatic productions at school had been highly meritorious.

Assembly Acquaints Underclassmen with DE Program

Distributive Education at Myers Park is a well-organized and carefully planned program open to all juniors and seniors interested in the mechanics of business, sales, management, and distribution. The purpose of the DE program is to help students acquire a job while learning in class about the business world of today. Citizenship, scholarship, ambition, and ability are important qualities all students participating in this program must possess.

Highlights of the year for DE students have been Parents' Night early in November when members explained the program to their parents, and the District Leadership Conference when the MP club hosted the event which was attended by students from ten schools. To climax the year's work, the club holds an annual bosses' banquet, given in honor of all employers who hired DE students during the year.

Distributive Education is becoming more beneficial and useful to participating students and schools. The program challenges young people who do not plan to attend college to achieve immediate success upon their high school graduation.

Pen Pushers

Participants Acquire Business Skills

Organized exclusively for girls interested in making a career in business, many Pen Pushers' meetings feature speakers from the business world. The speakers who are representative of businessmen in many fields ranging from banking to the legal field give the members an opportunity to talk first hand to businessmen from their own field. The main project of the club, the periodic cleaning of typewriters in the Math Building, proved to be of great benefit to the business department.

Pen Pushers off.: Sec. Lambeth, Treas. Anderson, Vice Pres. Roach, Pres. Pence.

German Club

Projects Include Preparing Display For Mint Museum

German Club this year worked to help members better understand German culture and to complete school and community projects. Among other activities, members made German Christmas ornaments and enjoyed a party for "Fasching" — the equivalent of Mardi-Gras. Two club projects were decorating a German tree for the Christmas Trees Around the World display at the Mint and buying books about Germany for the school library.

German Club off.: Treasurer, Anne Littlejohn; President, Kitty Nicholson; Vice President, Eberhard Werner; Secretary, Polly Vinroot.

German Club members present Miss Phifer with books for the library bought by the club.

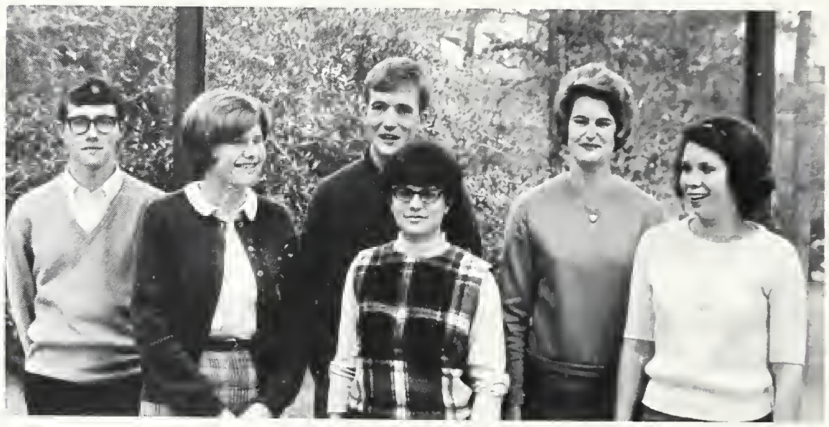
Meetings Acquaint Members with Spanish Customs

The Spanish Club's activities began in the fall with "Operation Amigo." The Amigos, who came from Ecuador, South America, lived in the homes of MP students. They acquainted their American families with their national customs and thus established better relations between the two countries.

The purpose of the Spanish Club being that of presenting members with a better understanding of Spanish-speaking countries and an opportunity to practice the Spanish they learn in class, were fulfilled through the Amigos' visit and their monthly meetings. Programs at meetings included playing games native of Spanish-speaking countries, such as the traditional breaking of the pinata, and listening to Peter DeVido, the foreign exchange student from Argentina, speak on customs of his country.

Washing blackboards at a Spanish Club project are Mike Crane and Tommy Abercrombie.



Spanish Club officers: Pres. Goodwin, Sec. Hobbs, Vice Pres. Lyle, Treas. Cauble, Committee Chairmen Zagora and Grier.

Peter DeVido, a student from Argentina, describes customs of his country to club members.

Mike Lyle, Dave Cannon, and Joe Goodwin, members of the Spanish IV class, present a Halloween skit for members at a fall meeting.

Latin Club

Slave Auction Is Star Attraction Of Latin Week

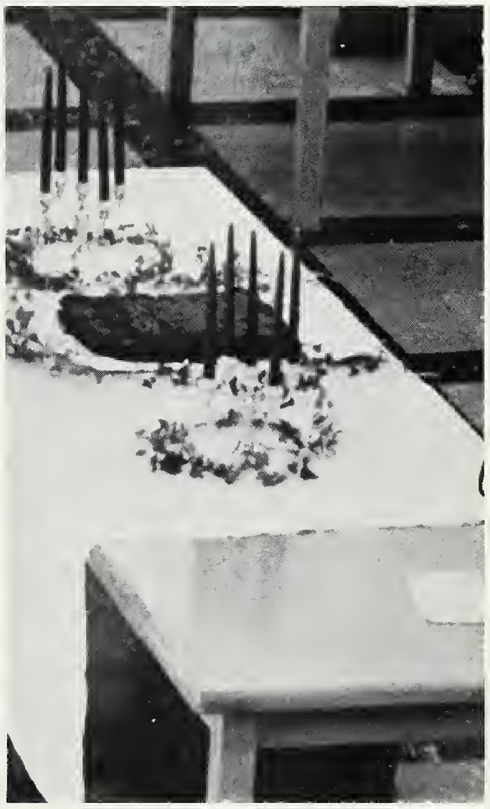
Latin Club officers: FRONT: Co-presidents, Greeley, Poe. BACK: Secretary, Robey; Vice President, Kirkpatrick; Co-treasurers, Whitesides, Kennedy.

This year, as once before, the Myers Park Latin Club entertained at the State Junior Classical League Convention held in the spring at Chapel Hill. To an audience of 1800 people, the Latin IV students sang their original poems, based on Virgil's life and his Aeneid.

In addition to presenting such enjoyable programs, the club has been active in various school activities. This year it contributed generously to the Exchange Program and Interclub Scholarship Fund at MP as well as to the Albert Suskin Memorial Fund for classical students at UNC. All students were able to participate in the fun-filled activities during the annual Latin Week which was held in the middle of April. The Roman Banquet and the crowning of the new Rex and Regina brought to close a successful week and year for this active club.

Lynn Greeley accompanies Latin Clubbers as they practice for the State Convention.

Virgil's birthday cake is served to members at their annual meeting honoring his birthday.



French Club

Club Members Sponsor Mardi Gras in February

The primary aim of the French Club this year was to bring the customs of France closer to French students. To carry out this purpose, programs at club meetings gave members the opportunity to view slides of French trips, sing French songs, and listen to a talk given by Mr. Macy.

Decorating the display case in S-C with a creche, French Bible, and familiar greeting, "Joyeux Noel," was the club's Christmas project. The highlight of the year was the Mardi Gras, held in February. At this event members wore costumes, competed for prizes, and played games in the gaily decorated cafeteria.

National Honor Society

NHS Taps Juniors, Seniors in March Assembly

Organized fifteen years ago, the MP Chapter of the National Honor Society continues to uphold its reputation based on the motto stressing the qualities of service, leadership, scholarship, and character. The top 15% of the Senior Class and 5% of the Junior Class are selected each year on the basis of good citizenship and academic excellence. Each new member must participate in a skit for the entertainment of previously inducted members. This is perhaps the most interesting initiation of any club at Myers Park. Under the direction of Mrs. Long and Miss Brice, the NHS has two annual projects—compiling lists of scholarships available to seniors and tutoring those who need help in their studies.

For a National Honor Society skit, Elizabeth Stack portrays the typical senior smoking under the Senior Tree (Donna Brown) during lunch.

"Thanks a lot," says Bobby Stratton after just being tapped into the Honor Society.

Band

Bandsmen March in Carousel Parade

Preparing for the football half-time shows occupies the group's time during the fall season. In addition to regularly scheduled practices, the bandsmen, majorettes, lettergirls, drum majors, and color guard rehearse two afternoons a week to polish their performances for the following Friday night.

Other activities include playing at pep rallies and marching in the Shrine Bowl, Band Bowl, and Carousel Parade.

Concert season begins in earnest after Christmas. The Symphonic and Concert Bands gave a joint winter concert in February, whereas the spring concert featured the newly formed Stage Band. The State Band Contest was held in Greensboro on March 31.

The choir has been very active in its endeavors to promote interest in choral singing. The newly organized Girl's and Boy's Glee Club assisted the choir in its performance for the district meeting of the N. C. Educational Association in the fall. During Christmas, this organization was involved with its annual assembly for the entire student body, as well as singing carols at various shopping centers throughout the city.

Modern Music Masters, composed of students displaying outstanding ability in music, is an honor society for musicians. In service to Myers Park, members have ushered at school sponsored concerts.

Orchestra

Music Program Provides Many Opportunities to Express

Dwight Moore, a sophomore member of the orchestra, practices plaving his French horn.

Good technique, a basic requirement for being a skilled musician, is only one of the phases of musicianship which the orchestra practices each day during fifth period. Under the direction of Mr. Spencer Mims, the members work for balance and exact dynamics so that each concert will be a musical success.

Performing at Ovens Auditorium in the Fall Showcase, the orchestra began an active year which included concerts in December and April. Soloists in these concerts were Fran Mitchell, Steve Shoemaker, and Johnny Snyder.

Several members show high degrees of musicianship by being selected for membership in the Modern Music Masters and the All-State Orchestra. Thirteen were chosen to participate in this year's All-State Orchestra at Lenoir-Rhyne College. The entire orchestra takes part in the annual Musical Festival at Greensboro and the annual musical put on by Myers Park. Dedicated musicians never stop practicing, and this summer several orchestra members will continue their study at Guilford College, Governor's School, and Transylvania Music Camp.

Youth Programs Develop Character

By creating, maintaining and extending high standards of Christian character throughout home, school, and community, Myers Park's three Hi-Y clubs have ably represented the YMCA. The Senior Hi-Y, being composed of boys selected from the Senior Class, helped underclassmen organize their own Hi-Y clubs. Seniors met with both sophomore and junior clubs to help advise them on the purposes of the club, and to help them decide on future projects. The Senior Hi-Y also aided Myers Park through their two projects, buying and distributing trash barrels throughout the school, and maintaining records of conference standings during football and basketball season.

Although the Junior Hi-Y, led by George Waterhouse, was late organizing, they fulfilled one of their projects by cleaning up the football stadium after a game. Sophomore Hi-Y, advised by Coach Sink, was organized second semester. The sophomores met with the Senior Hi-Y several times in order to learn more about Hi-Y clubs, to elect officers and to make preparations for the coming year.

In order to obtain their goal of growing in the knowledge and love of God, these YWCA sponsored clubs have committed many hours of service to Myers Park. The Sophomore Y-teens were organized early in the fall and began preparations at these early meetings for their Christmas party for children at a local nursery. Led by Carson Pease, the Junior Y-teens carried out a number of successful projects. The girls made Christmas decorations for patients at the Memorial Hospital, dressed dolls for the Salvation Army, and planted flowers for the beautification of the Myers Park campus. Continuing the tradition of the escort service, the Senior Y-teens also kept up a number of activities such as making Easter toys for the pediatric ward at the Memorial Hospital. The girls also had a series of informative meetings featuring discussions on colleges and admissions, and on a trip to Europe.

These three organizations exercised inter-club co-operation through their annual potato chip sale which was sponsored by the YWCA. The girls also got together for a window-washing project in the Student Center.

Pep, vitality, and enthusiasm are qualities which every Myers Park cheerleader possesses. Organizing schoolwide pep rallies, enduring long hours of practice, and supplying the athletic teams with endless support are only a few of their duties.

Nine girls are chosen from the large group of juniors and sophomores who try out each spring. After undergoing preliminary screening, the candidates are voted on by the whole school. As these girls are representatives of the entire student body, they must exhibit high standards in school and extracurricular activities. Thirteen Junior Varsity cheerleaders are elected in the fall by the Sophomore Class. These girls work diligently to keep Mustang spirit high. The '65-'66 JV squad is advised by Mrs. Stanton with Pam Bayne as head.

Service Group Named Club of the Year

Again putting forth their principle of "service above self," Interact Club members began their third successful year at MP with three projects to improve the football stadium. The boys painted all the bleachers, the interior of the press box, and sanded and painted the goalposts.

The Mustang license plates were made by club members themselves. Profit from the sale of these plates has been used to furnish money for service projects and to contribute to the fund to bring an exchange student to live with one of the club members next year.

With the co-operation of the Garinger Interact, MP Interact Club members pulled rickshas for two Saturdays at a local shopping center to make money for contributions to the Cystic Fibrosis Fund. The club continued the tradition of the Exchange Student Banquet, featuring entertainment by exchange students living in the county.

Three times a year boys are given an opportunity to apply for membership. Applicants' qualifications are reviewed by all faculty members and club members before the final decisions on who will be accepted are made by a special club committee.

Future Teachers, Future Homemakers Clubs

Members Are Prepared for Possible Future Careers

To help its members study the qualities and aptitudes basic to successful teaching is the overall purpose of the Future Teachers of America. The club helps members secure information concerning opportunities in education and the special skills required. Members gain experience through serving as teachers' assistants, working with a teacher in the field of their own special interest. FTA also serves the school through various projects, one of which is a tea for the teachers during the semester break.

The Future Homemakers of America provides girls with the opportunity to better themselves as homemakers and as members of a community. Under the supervision of Miss Lyerly, the members completed many community service projects. The club provided food and clothes to a needy family at Christmas, and at Easter made place-mats for patients' trays at Memorial Hospital. Later in the spring they sold cookbooks to raise money for their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Initiation Changed with Induction of New Members

Myers Park's Monogram Club has strived this year to promote better inter-scholastic sportsmanship through service projects for the school. Members in this organization is open to any boy who has earned his varsity letter. Two initiations are held annually for interested boys. The present enrollment of the club consists of thirty-five boys, who must participate in all the club's activities. Members excelled in serving Myers Park through their club. They cleaned up the Student Lounge in the fall, and after it burned transformed the old bookstore into a haven for seniors during their lunch period. The boys painted the scoreboard in the football stadium and helped park cars for all home games.

Through promoting high standards in trade ethics, workmanship, scholarship, and safety, and fostering a wholesome understanding of the functions of labor and management organizations; the Vocational Industrial Club of Myers Park has created for many students an interest in trade and industrial education. Students attend classes in the morning and work in the afternoon learning a trade such as mechanics or plumbing. Student Council

Leadership and

At the heart of school life is an organization around which the majority of school events revolve. It serves students by affording them opportunities and advantages which, without its existence, would otherwise be impossible. This vital organization is the student council, the voice and unified action of the students. It is the purpose of the council to make the students aware of the opportunities open to them in the many fields of endeavor now existing at Myers Park, and also to insure each student the benefits of participation, an important part of his high school education.

Direction Given to All School-sponsored Activities

The goal of providing every possible benefit to the students is achieved through the council's fourteen committees which are the actual machinery of the school government, and whose membership is voluntary. With a special stress on scholarship, sportsmanship, service, and spirit, the student council serves its school by sponsoring countless activities and projects throughout the year. The student council or its affiliate organization, the inter-club council are responsible for nearly every non-administrative activity during the year. A unified voice of the students, and an organizer of opportunity, the student council continues to serve Myers Park.

Local Membership Drive Aids Vietnamese Children

Made up of representatives from each homeroom, the Myers Park Red Cross serves the community and the school through various special projects during the year. Among these projects were recruiting teen volunteers for hospitals and nursing homes. The club also launched a successful enrollment drive late in October. Before Christmas homeroom representatives and other members made friendship kits for the children of South Viet Nam. The students filled them with toys and personal items for the children's use. Again this year girls volunteered to knit ski caps for needy children.

Red Cross homeroom representatives made tray favors in January to be used on Valentines Day for patients at Mercy Hospital. Members also prepared family first aid kits which were shipped to Colombia, South America. The kits, containing essential first aid supplies, were distributed among the teenagers of Colombia who had passed a standard First Aid course. As a final project members of the club solicited for Operation Big Drop, a campaign to secure blood donors.

Led by Mrs. Devereux and Mrs. McCraken, the school nurse, Mustang Medics has provided opportunities for its members to explore various health fields by presenting many interesting and informative meetings throughout the year. Each meeting, featuring a guest speaker who is usually a doctor, informs the club members about such things as schooling needed, and the opportunities and rewards gained in serving the community through the field of medicine.

In February, Myers Park selected several delegates to attend the State Convention in Raleigh. Here with students representing their clubs from all over North Carolina, they learned about the many fields of endeavor in medicine which one might choose to join and how involved the medical field really is.

During the year the medics took tours through the Red Cross Center and the Rehabilitation Hospital in Charlotte.

Because of the new method of printing, the 'Spark staff was able to accomplish its primary objective and devote more space to school news. The co-editors were responsible for this policy while the financial aspects were handled by the Business Manager and an assistant. Taking pictures, writing copy, typing columns, and doing paste-ups were the main jobs of the rest of the staff. A special edition was published at Christmas, as is traditional, for homeroom and school organizations' greetings. During Sadie Hawkins week the 'Spark sponsored the elections of Lil' Abner and Daisey Mae. The money earned through voting (which cost a penny a vote) was used to defray expenses. MP Girls Participate in Diversified

A diversified and extensive recreational program for girls is another facet of Myers Park's well-rounded curriculum. One year of physical education is a requisite for all students, while interested girls may take more. The required year is comprised of many types of team and individual activities in which the department stresses physical fitness and individual improvement.

Soon after school starts, the first of a four-part physical fitness test is given to measure the agility and skill of each student. The next activities on the fall program are football, speedball, field hockey, and archery. The team sports create a competitive spirit and help to endow the students with the quality of good sportsmanship, while archery is an individual endeavor.

When winter and cold weather arrive, the girls participate in such indoor sports as basketball and volleyball. Dancing is offered as a pleasant variation. It is designed to help the girls improve their co-ordination and balance. With the coming of spring, the students energetically partake in softball and track and field events. In addition to these seasonal sports, the girls participate daily in rigorous calisthenics. Personal health and hygiene is another integral part of the gym program in which the girls are advised on correct health habits. Under the direction of Miss Woodruff and Mrs. Rotan, the physical educational program is planned so that there are different activities going on simultaneously in each class.

Everyday the gym students partake in a ten minute period of vigorous calisthenics. By participating in daily exercises, the girls develop strength, body control, and dexterity.

Sports, Skills Developed through Participation in GAA's

Christine Johnson demonstrates techniques she learned from GAA-sponsored golf lessons.

The Girls' Athletic Association is an extra curricular activity which serves Myers Park by offering to those interested students a well-rounded physical education program. The purpose of the club is to provide an opportunity for girls to become more proficient in sports. Equally important, it teaches all participants the value of good sportsmanship and promotes a better understanding of games and sports.

A point system has been devised, whereby, girls are required to earn fifteen team points and fifteen individual points in one semester in order to be eligible for membership. It is also a requisite for all members to continue to participate in the sports program.

The annual banquets, which are given at the end of each semester, are the highlights of the year. At the final banquet, the girls who have been outstanding members are presented with awards in recognition of their achievements.

Besides offering an excellent athletic program, the GAA has service projects such as the selling of programs at football games and collecting for the Heart Fund. The main activity this year was selling sweat shirts.

The MP Mustangs raced to the first undefeated season in the history of the school. Unlike past years, head coach Gus Purcell knew he had the horses and from the beginning of summer practice he was off to the races. In speeding to eleven victories against no defeats, the thoroughbreds added the conference championship and the Western 4A State title to their stable trophy case. The breakaway speed of Jimmie Kirkpatrick, the lightning power of Mack Tharpe, the roll-out sprints of Neb Hayden, combined with a quick, strong line to form the most potent offense ever. On the other side of the line, defenders Mack Tharpe, Harris Woodside, Marc Scott, along with Bryan McClure and his backfield supporters, held the opposition's offense to a meager 8.3 points a game.

This year's offense could run and pass with the best. As in the past, the '66 herd was well-versed in the passing attack as quarterback Hayden teamed with receivers Dave Stanley, Johnny Wilson, Harris Woodside, and Bill Farthing.

The 1966 Myers Park offense breaks huddle. The starters were quarterback Neb Hayden, halfback Jim Kirkpatrick, fullback Mack Tharpe, flanker John Wilson, end Harris Woodside, and linemen Larry Lewis, Larry Howe, Tommy Butz, Dave Martin, and Julian Cockerham.

In addition to the passing threat, the horses also had the most exciting running game this side of Green Bay. Halfback Jimmie Kirkpatrick consistently excited the crowd by returning kicks and cutting around end. In contrast to the agile Kirkpatrick, fullback Mack Tharpe added inside power to the running attack. By using the option pass or run, Hayden was also a big ground gainer. As a passer Hayden completed an amazing 55.4% of his passes. Flanker Johnny Wilson, though injured most of the season, caught five touchdown passes while versatile Bill Farthing took four passes to pay dirt. Kirkpatrick also got five of his seventeen six-pointers on Hayden aerials. Center Julian Cockerham and tackles Larry Lewis and Larry Howe bulwarked the offensive line. Also opening holes in the offensive line were sturdy guards Tommy Butz and David Martin. And the 35 points which the Greeley-Nachman act produced were real lulu's.

Hayden and Kirkpatrick Selected to All-American Squad

Not only did this year's squad exemplify teamwork, but it had many individual stars. Quarterback Neb Hayden was the fifth player in the school's history to be selected for All-America honors by Coaching magazine. Neb and Mack Tharpe were selected to the NC Shrine Bowl teams. Neb set six Shrine Bowl records and Mack made twenty-five tackles from his linebacker slot. Halfback Jimmie Kirkpatrick made second team All-America, the All-South team, and received the WBTV Bronze Shoe Award.

Jimmie, Neb, and Harris Woodside were chosen to the Observer's All-County team — the first time that three players from one school made the first team. David Stanley, David Martin, Nick Karres, and Julian Cockerham were also recognized in All-County polls. While this was a team of individuals, it is a tribute to the coaches that it exhibited such teamwork.

This year's whole backfield received All-State honors. Here quarterback Hayden prepares to hand off to halfback Kirkpatrick or fullback Tharpe.

Kirkpatrick was named to the All-South team, and received All-American mention.

Even the Junior Mustangs Win Many

Coach Allen coaxed, coached, and corralled his Colts to another winning season. The Ponies, composed mostly of sophomores and some juniors, marked up six victories against 3 defeats. This year's junior gridders made it the seventh season in a row that Allen-coached teams have lost only three or fewer games. However this was the first season since 1959 that the junior Mustangs lost three games.

The team's success results from outstanding, well-coached personnel. The '66 Colt backfield finished the season with Duff Goforth at flanker. Early in the season the versatile Goforth ran often from the halfback position. Tall, Tim Beaver quarterbacked the Horses in the final games of the season. Tim Hart contributed his services at fullback, and Larry Grist alternated with Butch Reynolds at the halfback slot. The offensive line featured center David Woodall flanked by Laurens Willard and Bill Tate at the right and left guard spots. Big'-uns Ernie Benson and Fred Amen filled in at the tackle positions. Speedy Terch Whitesides, though light for his position, played tight end, and Eddie Moore rounded out the starting eleven.

Halfback Larry Grist (26) leaps into the air to haul down a pass from quarterback Tim Beaver just before being tackled.

Offensive end Jim Seacord (81), quarterback Tim Beaver, and center David Woodall carry out blocking assignments at Garinger.

Harriers Donate Another Fine Season

The offense was aided by an equally strong defense. This year's rushing linemen who saw the most action were Williard, Amen, and Benson who also did offensive chores in the interior line. Backing up the line were junior Knox Tate and sophomore Bill Tate. Defensive ends Jim Seacord and John Casanova contained opposing runners who tried to turn the corner on the Colts.

This year's team was able to win the big games, but somehow fell short against some of the easier competition. Nevertheless, the Myers Park Jayvees recorded another fine season.

Colts Celebrate Six Big Wins

The Mustang Harriers again got the minor sports off to a winning season. The Cross Country men racked up six conference victories against only one defeat. In post season competition Coach Cloaninger's team gained second place in the state meet in Chapel Hill. This season continued Myers Park's domination in a demanding sport in which only the lonely runner's intestinal fortitude drives him to the finish. It is a tribute to the character of boys of Myers Park that they continue to excel in an often unhearlded and overlooked sport where desire is often more important than talent. Seniors Bruce Beiderbeck, Jeff Howser, Dick Kuhn, and exchange student John Jones were big point men for the team. Phil Wilson, who finished third in the state meet, was the number one thin-clad this year. The big surprises were sophomores George Wilson and David Todd. Wilson and Todd improved with each meet and at the season's end they finished 5 and 6.

The squad's only season loss came at the hands of North. The teams lost to North only because one carload of runners had car trouble and arrived late. All in all the team gave Myers Park another record to be proud of.

Mustangs Take 25 Consecutive Wins

Coach Hartman led his fast-breaking Mustangs to a record 25 consecutive victories against one defeat. In capturing the conference championship and the number two spot in the state tournament, the MP cagers posted the best record in the school's history. The team averaged a record 71 points per game to its opponents 53. Yet they still, after 25 straight wins, came up one point short in the state tournament finals.

The MP team began the season with a non-conference win over High Point. Employing a pressure defense the Mustang cagers picked three conference wins in routing South, North, and Ashley. Then the team motored to High Point where clutch shooting and rebounding eeked out the last pre-Christmas win. The basketballers next journeyed to Asheville and swept the Holidays Tourney by trouncing Enka and Lee Edwards.

Before Final Loss

When school resumed, the hardwood five defeated Garinger and set a city-county record in scoring 105 points against Harding. Hunter Huss, East, and West were the next to fall to Hartman's pressure-cooker defense. In the second round of play, the Myers Parkers again dumped South, North, Ashley, and Garinger. In the conference tournament the Mustangs beat Ashley, South, and finally West. The team then traveled to Greensboro where they eliminated Salisbury and Durham. Finally in the championship game, the hopes for an undefeated season, state championship were smashed by a one point loss.

Hartman, Hustle, Defense Produce

Head Mustang, Jim Hartman, led his fast-breaking, defensive-minded team to a 25-1 year.

At the season's beginning Coach James Hartman told his players the goal of the season would be to win the last game — an accomplishment never achieved by a Myers Park cage team. Though it did not win that game, the team did win the 25 before it. Much of the credit for the team's success must be given to super-coach Hartman who molded a team out of thirteen juniors and two seniors. Hartman continually drilled his team in pressure defense, rebounding, the fast break, and outside shooting. Its adeptness in these four phases along with a strong bench made this year's team a winner.

The team's only seniors were starters Herb Long and Johnny Wilson. Long, a forward, and Wilson, a guard, served as the team's co-captains. Wilson spark-plugged the team with passing, dribbling, and ball-hawking defense. Long contributed Kevin Kennelly was the team's leading scorer with a 17.3 average. Not only was he a talented offensive player, but he was also, along with Wilson, a key man in the press. Big Bobby Haubenreiser could be counted on for inside shooting and rebounding. Junior Gabriel Tindal, who rounds out the starting five, was the Mustang's big rebounder. Versatile Bob Bonhoff and John Needy filled in both the forward and pivot spots. Stan Bane and Pudge Tate substituted equally well at the guard spots. Lanky Jim Bost was the number one pivot replacement. Craig Renwick, Steve Heiner, Eddie Poe, Dick McMillan, and Angus McDonald filled out the playing roster.

Slow-Starting Jayvees Take Conference Championship

This year's Jayvee basketball team won the conference championship. After losing several early games, Coach Wayne Ayers' Ponies struggled back and took the Western 4A title. Though the squad lost out in the conference tourney, they had a fine season, considering injuries.

Mark Edwards was a big point man for a team that usually had well-balanced scoring. Billy Tate, Tommy Scarborough, and Doug Ayers alternated at the guard positions. Terch Whitesides and George Wilson saw much action at the baseline forward position. Bob Anders collected the most rebounds for the team, and his injury was a factor in several early season losses. Tim Beaver, who improved with each game, held down the other pivot position. Steve Parker was the number one pivot reserve.

Coach Ayers, a former MP cager, patterned his offense after the varsity's and emphasized defense. He used several starting combinations and substituted freely to season his players. At the season's end his team had contributed another great year to Mustang athletics.

MP Wins Conference Championship

Coached by Bill Cordell, the Myers Park wrestlers won the Western 4A Championship. The grapplers took twelve victories while losing only one to South. In the post-season conference tournament the Mustangs tied with North Mecklenburg, but won on a coin flip. For the first time in the history of the school Myers Park's team won over Boone High School which had dominated North Carolina prep wrestling in recent years.

This year's squad was composed of veteran juniors and seniors. At the 95-pound slot junior Alan Roberts won nine matches while losing three. Bruce Thompson at 103 pounds had an identical 9-3 record. Coming back after a season layoff caused by injury, senior Brad Cox accumulated ten wins against two losses. Charles Serrell took fifteen straight victories before losing in the state meet. Richard Wilson at 127 pounds won ten conference matches and lost only one. Seniors Stuart White, Dick Kuhn, and Gil Hutcheson combined for sixteen regular season wins.

Hugh Poston won five matches before being injured after which Willie Wells finished the season at that weight limit. Captain Pete Thompson racked up eighteen straight victories before finishing first in the state tourney. At 180 pounds Errol Genois won seven bouts. Tommy Williams and Knox Tate wrestled at the 197 pound slot and managed four wins between them. Finally, Reid Howell rounded out the roster at the heavy weight position.

JV Wrestlers Win Eight Matches Without a Loss

Following in the footsteps of the winning JV football team and the JV basketball season, the Jayvee wrestling team marked up a perfect season of eight wins against no losses. Like the JV cagers, the sophomore grapplers staged their matches as preliminary contests to the varsity competition which took place later in the evening. Coach Jacques Macy, who coaches only wrestling during the athletic year, not only practiced his squad in the various maneuvers and techniques of high school wrestling, but also assisted the varsity coach Bill Cordell in handling the varsity group at afternoon practices and during conference matches.

The JV team, whose main purpose is to train players for varsity competition, contributed two players during the season to the varsity. Former JV wrestler Willie Wells substituted for Hu Poston who was injured in midseason, and Reid Howell competed for the varsity after gaining experience on the Jayvee team. This year's team consisted of Joe Watts, Herb Gale, Fitzhugh Stout, Ronald Reich, Willie Wells, Dennis Chapman, M. C. Sorrell, Bobby Eure, Rick Mundorf, and Hart Hutchison. These individuals, many of whom had undefeated records, combined their energies and talents to rack up a perfect undefeated season.

MustangMermen Win Many Meets and Lose Only One

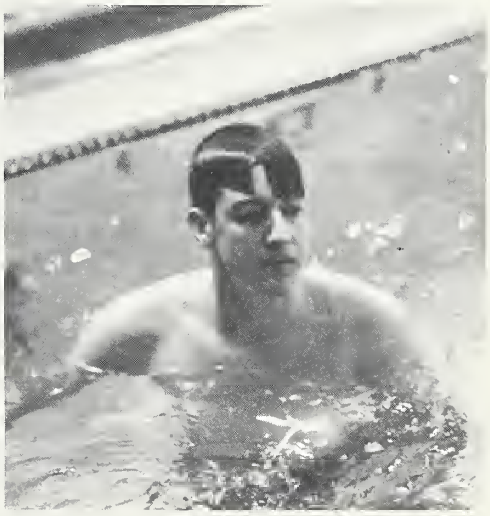
The 1966 Mermen recorded another great season as they picked up seven meet victories against only one late season defeat at the hands of Greensboro Grimsley. The Mustangs finished second in the state championship meet. Their performance is especially amazing when one considers that, because of a shortage of practice space, they could manage only thirty minutes of pool time a day. In addition to shortened practices, the team lost many members because time came during seventh period. These two difficulties nearly axed the squad from the winter sports agenda, but the team members concentrated, worked hard, and produced a remarkably fine season.

Swimming Coach Bill Cloaninger depended on veteran swimmers as well as a few new sophomores. The Mermen were strong in the 50-yard free, 100-yard free, 400-yard free, the backstroke, and the butterfly. Bruce Beiderbecke in his second year as co-captain, swam the butterfly and wherever else Coach Cloaninger needed a good fill-in man. Tom Haene was the number one man in the backstroke, and Billy Kemp just missed setting a new school record in his event.

Bill Kemp practices his starts as Tom Haene and Mike DeLaney watch from poolside.

Swimmers executing a turn in the backstroke is a familiar sight at the Y where they could only practice a half an hour a day.

Mike DeLaney's electric personality sparked the Mermen to many victories.



Mermen Win Despite Limited Practice

Sophomore Gene Stallings, voted this year's Most Improved Swimmer, was second to Beiderbecke in total points. Stallings swam the 50-yard and, later in the year, the 400-yard endurance freestyle. Scholtz, Bill Hunt, Bob McGregor, and Haene swam in the medleys and the relays. However, these two were not the strong events for Cloaninger's Mermen. This year the Mustang Mermen had two key men in the diving events. Veteran Jimmy Husband was the team's top driver. Husband was closely pushed by sophomore Steve McLaughlin all season. All in all, in spite of difficulties, the Mermen concluded another excellent year.

Talented Track Team Shoots For State Championship

The Myers Park team entered this season with a long tradition of statewide domination in this sport. This year's squad is well on its way to its ninth state championship in 11 years. Coached by Stuart Allen, the defending state champions breezed through their first five meets. As usual, strength in the sprints, the relays, and the distance runs provided the winning margin. The field events also supplied many points in the dual and tri-meets over West, Garinger, East, Hunter Huss, North, Harding, and the Davidson Frosh. At the Furman Invitationals the Mustangs took first place honors in the high school classification for the first time in the school's history.

Not only were the '66 track men strong in all events, but they also had exceptional depth. In the running events, veteran hurdler Jeff Howser dominated the 180 lows and the 120 highs. Howser broke his own state record in this first meet in the 120 high hurdles and was shooting for the national record all season long in that event.

Sprinters Mike Todd and Louis Jewell break away from the blocks in the first heat of a 100 yard dash in a multiple meet with Hunter Huss, Charlotte Catholic, and East.

Sprinters Lead the Way for Trackmen

Louis Jewell heads a group of top sprinters including Mike Todd and Harris Houston. Jewell, Todd, and Houston boosted the team's score by taking many 100 and 220 yard sprints. Seniors Dick Kuhn and Gil Hutchinson were the team's top performers in the 440. Roger West, John Jones, and Phil Wilson participated in the half mile run, while in the mile sophomore Larry Forrester piloted a crew of experienced milers in Heely and Wilson. This year's team, like many in the past, prevailed in the relays. Howser, Jewell, Todd, and Houston combined their talents in passing the baton to take many a win in the 880 relay. This quartet also ran the rare 440 relay in the few contests in which it was held. In the mile relay Dick Kuhn teamed with Howser, Todd, and Houston. Like so many past years, Stuart Allen's well-coached team combined talent and depth to produce a top-flight season.

Senior Phil Van Hoy and sophomore Bob Crump negotiate the turn in a 440 yard run.

Field

Powerful Field Team Compliments Running Events

The field team, coached by Stuart Allen, was the perfect complement to the running team. The field squad also enjoyed the depth and experience which provided so many points in the running events. In nearly all of the field events the Mustangs were two or three men deep. Likewise in most events the field men had one or two experienced participants.

In the shot put Nick Karres led the way. Ira Rapp, David Howe, and David Stanley also entered meets and gained points for the Mustangs.

Karres, a junior, also dominated in the discus throw. Barry Allison backed up Karres and contributed points for the team.

Broad jumping for the Myers Parkers were David Thrailkill and Kirk Duncan. In the pole vault John McKinnon frequently soared over the state mark until he was injured in mid-season. Replacing him were David Corry and Bill Mackey. Senior Tex Linsmier and Junior John Needy had almost equal success in the high jump. Like many past years, this year's field team combined depth and experience to bring success.

Varsity Baseball

Coach Sink Uses All His Baseball Knowledge to Win for Baseballers

Jack Sink, coach of the 1966 varsity baseball team had his usual worries this season — erratic pitching and defense and inconsistent hitting. Yet the Mustang mentor did manage to salvage a n'er do well .500 won-lost record despite the frequent snakebites.

The team's most consistent hitters were shortstop Johnny Wilson and catcher Lynn Greeley. Wilson completed his third straight .300 season, and Greeley proved his theory that a good offense is the best defense. Centerfielder Neb Hayden, pitcher Herb Long, and first baseman Randy Short added power and consistency to the attack.

This year's team had an exceptionally fast defense. Speedsters Hayden, Jimmie Kirkpatrick, John Adkins, and Mike Phillips divided the outfield duties. Wilson and second baseman Pudge Tate formed the keystone combination. Short at first, Cannon at third, and Greeley behind the plate completed the starting nine. Coach Sink used Long and Hayden as starters with Earle Heath in relief.

Sophomores Win Many Ball Games

Just off a conference championship year in Jayvee basketball, Coach Wayne Ayers was preparing for the oncoming Jayvee baseball season. Rather than tamper with success, Coach Ayers decided to keep his personnel and merely change the uniforms. He did so (six of his starters and even his manager are former roundballers) and by adding a few plain old baseball players, he produced another winning team. After tying Garinger 10-10 in the opener, the team went on to mow down all its competition.

The starting infield consists of Duff Goforth at third, Steve Skidmore at short, Doug Ayers at second, Bill Tate behind the plate, and Tim Hart on the big first sack. In the outfield are George Wilson left, Terch Whitesides in center, and Mark Edwards in right. Sophomore Dale Sprinkle was Coach Ayers' mainstay on the mound, and junior Grady Klutz was ready when Sprinkle tired. In their first year of high school rawhide competition, Coach Ayers and his 1966 ponies swept aside all comers including Harding, Garinger, South, and Country Day.

After suffering defeat in the season's first two matches, Myers Park's golf team quickly rebounded. In an effort to regain the state title held by three earlier teams, the golfers outscored twelve of the next thirteen opponents and assumed a favored role in the state meet May 9th and 10th in Chapel Hill. The squad, defending conference champions, was coached by Jim Hartman and led by the first team consisting of Trip Maffitt, Ken Smith, George Waterhouse, David Hawkins, Gillie Spratt, and Bo Turner. This group was backed by strong replacements in Angus McDonald, Jock Tonnisen, Bill Brewer, Smithy Curry, Richard Donnelly, and Tommy Lineberger. The highlight of the early season competition came when the Mustangs conquered Ashley, Hunter Huss, and Harding, as Trip Maffitt shot a 36.

Tennis Team Dominates Conference Net Competition

Despite having its 74 match winning streak broken, the tennis team was one of the region's top teams. The Netmen, coached by Bill Cloaninger, were a well balanced group of hardworking individuals. Some 14 different boys competed in various matches indicating fierce individual competition.

Andy Phillips, a regional champ in the doubles last year, led the team again this year. Milton Haslam, the team's defending state champion, was the team's number one singles man this year.

Soccer Team Plays Important Role in Intramurals

The intramural program is the perfect complement to the varsity athletic program. The various intramural sports provided organized athletic competition for those boys not engaged in varsity or JV athletics. Coach Ayers, aided by committee chairmen Lynn Greeley and Richard Wilson, arranged football, basketball, and numerous championship playoffs. The boys competed with teams in their grade level and then overall championships took place. The most important outgrowth of the intramurals was the soccer team, coached by Floyd Campbell and co-captained by De Kirkpatrick and Dick Betts. The team, which improved steadily during the entire season, won three matches while losing three and tying one.

Coach Wayne Ayers headed the intramural program during the fall and winter.

Coach Campbell directed the intramurals in the spring and coached the soccer team.

Head football coach, Gus Purcell, led his squad to its first undefeated year.

Friendly Bill Cordell was end coach in football and head coach of the 1965-66 championship wrestling squad.

Peerless Jim Hartman devotedly piloted his well-coached team to 25 straight wins.

Coaching Staff

Select Coaching Staff Leads Meyers

The Myers Park coaching staff was largely responsible for the remarkable success that the 1966 teams have had. Many familiar as well as a few newer faces brought another year of victories to Myers Park's firmly established winning tradition in athletics. This group of dedicated men not only produced successful teams through thorough knowledge of the various sports, but also inspired character and sportsmanship through their respected leadership on the playing fields. Without a doubt this year's athletic leaders exemplified in sports those same youth-guiding qualities which have been synonymous with the Mustang faculty.

Heading the sports department as athletic director, Coach Stuart Allen put in many overtime hours doing behind-the-scenes organization. Among other duties, Coach Allen arranged season schedules, coordinated ticket sales, allocated team expenses, and balanced the budget. In addition, he built a winning JV football team and headed another of his unparalleled track teams.

Head football coach Gus Purcell led a talented team of assistants. In directing his team to its first undefeated season, Purcell, a graduate of UNC, received help from line coach Jack Sink and defensive coach Bill Cordell.

Swimming and cross country coach, Bill Cloaninger, counsels Harriers before a meet.

Jack Sink serves as line coach for the football team. In addition hard-working coach Sink, an expert in baseball tactics, drilled the varsity in the fundamentals of the game.

Floyd Campbell coached the improving soccer team to a respectable season.

In his first year at Myers Park Wayne Ayers coached his Jayvee basketball team to a conference championship and his sophomore baseball squad to a healthy winning season.

Park Teams to Traditional Success

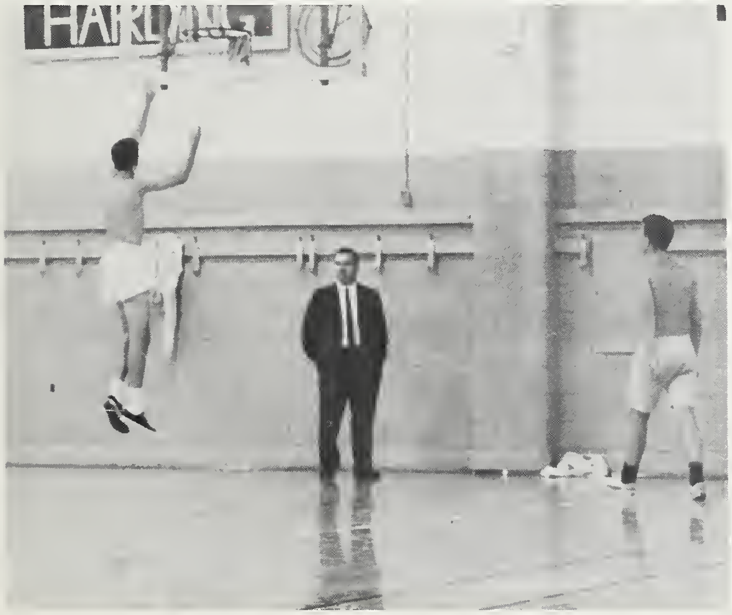
Cross Country Coach Bill Cloaninger guided his squads to the runner-up spot in the state tournament. In his first year at Myers Park Floyd Campbell steered a vastly improved soccer team to a new prominence.

In the winter sports, Basketball Coach Jim Hartman, who does as much as the counselors to get his players in College, carried his team to its best season ever. Following in Hartman's respected steps, first year man Wayne Ayers gained a conference championship and the esteem of his Jayvee roundballers. Bill Cloaninger piloted his Mermen to his second state runner-up spot of the year. Bill Cordell, a graduate of Lenoir Rhyne, coached his wrestlers to the conference championship. Jacques Macy, the Jayvee coach, commissioned his James Bond heroes to a 8-0 season.

Spring sports included Coach Allen's invincible track team. Mustang mentor Jack Sink directed his team to another good season, and golf coach Hartman headed one of the area's top teams. Tennis Coach Cloaninger undoubtedly was shooting for better than second place. A coach once said of his talentless team, "You can't have a circus without animals." Yet because of its talented staff of ringmasters, M.P. wins, performers or not.

Jacques Macy, the able JV wrestling coach led his boys to an undefeated season.

Efficient Johnny Lee, who served as assistant principal, acted as line and defense coach for the JV football team.



Competent Stuart Allen headed the JV football team and the state's best track team.

Junior Phil Wilson was the number one harrier on this year's cross country team.

Sports' Summary

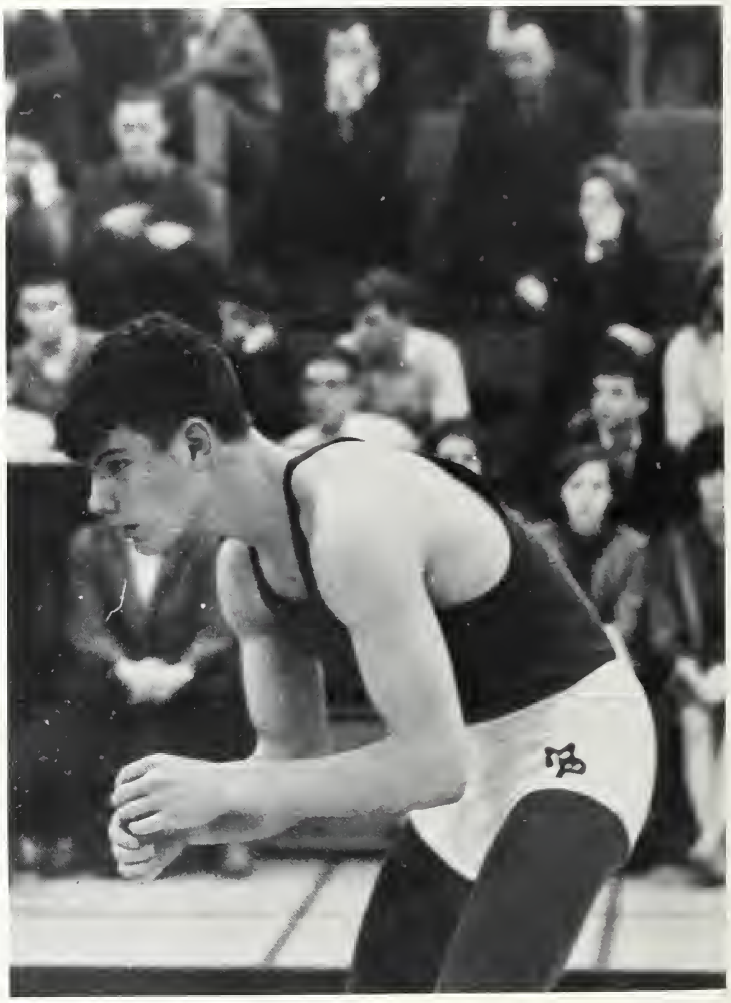
1966 Is the Greatest Year for

1966 was the greatest athletic year in the history of M.P. Altogether the various teams won seven out of nine conference championships. Of these seven two, football and basketball, were in the three so-called major sports. The football team contributed its first undefeated season to the school's tradition. The basketball team, supported by the "hard core," had its best season ever collecting twenty-five straight wins against one defeat. The basketball team's only loss came in the state championship finals in Greensboro.

In the minor sports Myers Park took two conference championships. The '66 wrestlers took the regular season championship as well as the conference tournament championship by the flip of a coin. The Mermen won in their conference and finished second in the state tournament. Like the Seahorses the Cross Country team earned the runner-up spot in the state championships. The Harriers finished second in the state and in the regular season. In the minor sports not yet completed, the Mustangs seem assured of conference championships in track and field, golf, and tennis. The track team, as usual dominated the early season competition. Likewise the tennis team had exceptional success except for one loss to North on their courts. Though it found the early season going rough, the golf team was a favorite to take the conference crown. Though the seasons are as yet incomplete, the very fact that these teams have prevailed points out how successful the minor sports program is.

Neb Hayden who quarterbacked the '66 Mustangs was chosen to the All-Mecklenburg team, Shrine Bowl team, and All-American team.

Captaining the 1966 wrestling team, Peter Thompson won eighteen straight matches, the state championship, and the Sandifer award.



Mustang Athletics

The '66 Jayvee teams had the same success as their older counterparts. The footballing Colts won six games while losing only three. After a tough first-year start, JV cage Coach Wayne Ayers and his Ponies became accustomed to M.P.'s winning ways and went on to seize the regular season championship. The Jayvee grapplers never even faltered as they coasted to eight straight wins. In a similar manner, the JV Colts played their first six games without incurring a loss.

All in all the Mustangs of 2400 Colony Road experienced the most successful year in Myers Park's history. This unparalleled success must have resulted from a combination of excellent coaching, plentiful talent, and a beneficial faculty attitude.

For three years Johnny Wilson held down the shortstop position for Coach Sink's Mustangs. In those years Wilson batted right at the .300 mark.

Though he never hurdled until his sophomore year, Senior Jeff Howser became the best hurdler ever for Myers Park and he consistently broke the state record in the 120 lows.

Kevin Kennelly's clutch play led the Mustangs through many close games.

The theme of the Junior-Senior being Hawaii, each senior girl was presented a lei as a souvenir.

Annually, the student body sponsors a Broadway musical. This year's selection was SOUTH PACIFIC starring Rick Estes and Nancy Teat.

Regardless of what many people may think, this yearbook is not the product of merely the annual staff. It is true that the staff has worked endless hours to produce the book—writing copy and captions— but many other and often unrecognized persons have also played an important part in its assimilation and, in essence, made the 1966 Mustang possible. For the invaluable aid and cooperation of the following groups and individuals, the Staff would like to express its sincere appreciation:

Mr. Frank Fleming, Consultant, Delmar Printing Company;
Mr. Ralph Criminger, Art Director, Delmar Printing Company;
Mrs. Virginia Christenbury, Mrs. Jean Howarth, Beverly Studio, senior portraits;
Mr. Bill Renfro, Delmar Studio, underclass portraits;
Mr. and Mrs. Phil Aull, beauty portraits;
Dr. Lewis and the Myers Park faculty;
The Myers Park student body;
The 1966 Staff and Homeroom Representatives;
Mr. Leslie Browne, Advisor;
Dick Snyder and the Davidson Basketball Team, beauty judges;
And the parents and other friends of Myers Park who have supported the Mustang as Sponsors and Patrons.
